GREELEY'S PLOTTINGS.

Further Particulars About His Correspondence With Seymour, Curtin, Tilden and Others, and His Shameful Quibbling—The Question of Rebel Pensions.

From the Binghamton Republican, August 24.

The Greeley-Seymour letters are unfairly and dishonestly withheld from publication. Unfairly, because they involve the public interests of the people; and dishonestly, because, while they are concealed Mr. Greeley is quibbling about them, and misrepresenting them. They belong to the public; it is now almost a crime to withhold them. These letters of Greeley and Seymour, taken together, prove every essential fact we have asserted, of the disgraceful secret collusion of Greeley and the Democrats; and further, they show, as we propose to make plain, and beyond question, in good time, that Mr. Greeley's descent, his surreptitious plottings, involving the exact manner in which he should be pushed upon the Cincinnati Convention, are greater and worse than we have yet asserted. Mr. Greeley must produce his letters. He may forge other letters if he likes, and so attempt a new deception. Our purpose is to hold the case in our hands long enough to expose and punish the contemptible cheating the conspirators are not above resorting to. Meanwhile, Mr. Greeley nor his Tribune, nor any Democratic print whatever, can deny or assert anything in the premises, while the letters are concealed by the chiefs. Those letters are the sole argument of Greeley; to withhold them is confession; to produce them is confession—and conviction.

One matter in addition, to-day—that of rebel pensions. We have a clear case now, to the effect that Mr. Greeley committed himself last fall in favor of rebel pensions, both in writing and by personal understanding. We now put the issue directly to Mr. Greeley and the Tribune. Readers will remember—

1. That in Greeley's first and only "authorized" Tribune denial (July 23), he did not mention the rebel pension matter, though he talked of many insignificant subjects, and "dodged" every charge, declaring that "the whole gist and force of the Republican's calumny" was the charge about Seymour being made Secretary of State.

2. That when Mr. C. S. Carpenter retracted his affidavit so far as it related to his reading of the rebel pension letter, until the papers could be produced, the Tribune (July 25), said: "A Mr. Carpenter, of Oneonta, made the only averment of the kind consequence in the lately paraded farrago of affidavits, &c."

[Will the reader observe the direct contradiction by the Tribune, of itself, and that, whichever statement of that paper is true, it is false to its veracity and good faith!]

3. That when C. S. Carpenter wrote to Greeley demanding that he should distinctly say whether he wrote a rebel pension letter or not, the Tribune said he "lied" in the affidavit or in the retraction, and it refused in terms to say whether the letter was written or not. [Mr. Greeley was in or near New York when the issue was evaded, in all the preceding cases.]

4. That the Tribune, in answer to Senator Carpenter, of Wisconsin—the Senator having said that Greeley was in favor of rebel pensions, etc.—declared that C. S. Carpenter's affidavit was the only foundation for the statement, and that, in point of fact, no such letter was ever written. [Greeley was then making his New England campaign.]

5. That Greeley, in Portland, talked about the rebel pension business, and declared that no Southerner had asked him for a pledge; but said nothing on the question whether he had had negotiations about pensions, or had really given any pledges. On this subject he was wholly silent.

6. This quibbling of Greeley and the Tribune—the repeated refusals of Greeley to meet a plain and direct issue with a direct denial, in a case where petty evasions are deemed necessary, on account of the gravity of the charge—would alone, if there were nothing else, settle the question of Mr. Greeley's guilt against him. But "in point of fact," as the Tribune's evasion of Senator Carpenter's charge reads, there is something else. Mr. Greeley is implicated in a rebel pension correspondence. The "views" of Mr. Carmichael; the fact that he wrote them to Mr. Greeley; that they included the rebel pension proposition; that Mr. Greeley's answer was regarded by Carmichael as embracing an acceptance of rebel pensions as soon as he understood its purport; that the letter of Greeley contained approving expressions not printed in the synopsis; that Carmichael in his subsequent interview with Greeley discussed the propositions of his letter, and on his return distinctly and earnestly declared Mr. Greeley's acceptance of rebel pension as among the "compromises"—which said compromises Mr. Greeley thought ought to be adopted at once, and finally, are facts that can be proved upon strong circumstantial and direct evidence. In all this we take no account of Mr. Carpenter's affidavit; the case is complete without it.

We now come to the issue with the Tribune and Mr. Greeley. We demand a direct answer from the Tribune. Did Mr. Greeley authorize, or did he not, the statement that "in point of fact no letter of that (rebel pension) sort was ever written?" Or has the Tribune assumed to deny, what Greeley refused to deny, both before and after its statement was made.

Yet, however interesting and significant the rebel pension issue is, it is only an incident. The great fact, now established, and that we shall establish again on new evidence, is that Mr. Greeley secretly, clandestinely and dishonorably treated with the Democrats, for their nomination last fall; that he agreed to be their candidate long before Cincinnati; that he in fact procured their help and their nomination; and that he did this while at the head of a recognized Republican newspaper which, by its long record was especially committed to Republican interests; and that this treason was deliberately, insidiously, and quietly carried out that it was not publicly known and admitted until months after it was consummated; and finally, that it involves and betrays Mr. Greeley's character for political honor and good faith among men of all parties—except, of course, Mr. Greeley is able to show that the charges are false. There is only one course open to Mr. Greeley. He has now to produce his letters! If he does not, the exposures will continue. We have the story of his plotting from a beginning that has not hitherto been made public. How it shall get to the country depends upon Mr. Greeley. We are willing he should retain such title, as it is now within his power to have, to the respect of the American people, through a voluntary explanation or confession.

A Sharp Letter from Blanton Duncan.

To the Editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

In to-day's Courier-Journal a statement is made as coming from your Washington correspondent that the Administration has placed funds to my credit, and is commented upon editorially. The unfairness of such reckless assertions indicate the alarm which is felt by your Greeley party. It is hoped that such misrepresentations will paralyze the efforts now being made to reorganize the Democratic party.

I stamp your correspondent's statement as an unqualified lie.

No money has been tendered me from Washington. None would be accepted. The expenses of the convention so far have been, and will be in the future, borne by me, and will be my donation to the cause, unless a subscription should be made to defray them.

Your correspondent yesterday telegraphed the feeling of alarm felt in official circles about the movement at Louisville. To-day that alarm is abated, and you assert that the convention is to be run in the Grant interest.

I believe that my character stands as high in the United States as yours, and that reckless misrepresentations in your journal and others will react upon you in the end, and make the friends of truth and honesty in politics more determined to stand by their principles. Respectfully,

BLANTON DUNCAN.

Needlewomen in Liverpool.

A Mr. Simpson, of Liverpool, who for some time past has taken a very active part on the side of the workpeople in their disputes with the employers, is just now holding a series of meetings of needlewomen in that town for the purpose of enabling them to make known the wretched pay they receive for excessively long hours of labor. The condition of these poor women would appear from their statements to be deplorable. One woman, a mantle maker, stated that she worked twelve hours a day, with an allowance of an hour and a half for meals. When the inspector came to visit the workroom the employer represented that there were fewer people in the house than there really were, her object being to get the establishment under the workshop act instead of the factory act, so as to be able to keep her workwoman for a later hour. The wages ranged from five shillings to twelve shillings a week, and for these sums the women had to keep themselves.

The mantlemakers, however, would seem to be much better paid than the plain sewers. One young woman, a plain sewer, said she worked eleven hours a day and received a permanent salary of seven shillings a week, and she was the best machinist in the room. If this is the wages of the best it may be imagined what the bad machinists receive. One old woman, who said she had been forty years a plain sewer, actually asserted that she had worked five days for eighteenpence. A middle-aged woman said she had worked at sack-making from half-past seven in the morning, till six in the evening, with half an hour for dinner, and she got four shillings a week. A young woman said she was a machinist, and made youths' single jackets, for which she was paid at the rate of twopence for four. It took her half a day to make the four. When she came out at night, she added, after working a heavy machine all day, she could hardly stand on her feet.

But even this statement is surpassed by that of another machinist, who makes gentlemen's trowsers, and who said she was paid three shillings a dozen, or for the very best four shillings. "If we worked," she explained, "from six o'clock in the morning until twelve at night, we might manage with the assistance of a baster, to make half-a-dozen." "That is," asked Mr. Simpson, "two shillings for working eighteen hours, and out of that sum you find your own thread and silk?" To which she replied, "Yes." Another young woman said she got three-halfpence a dozen for making linen cuffs and collars. She could earn about fivepence a day by working from nine to seven. That was as much as others earned. A correspondent of the Liverpool Albion, who has been investigating the matter, confirms many of the above statements. The following is a description of one of the "sweating" establishments visited by him: "The work-rooms are two cellars, each fifteen by eighteen feet, the floors being nine feet six inches beneath the level of the roadway. An opening has been made in the partition wall so as to connect the two cellars. Workshops less likely to fulfill the conditions of health it would be rather difficult to conceive. One of the cellars contained five machines and the other three. The proprietor informed us that he employed sixteen or seventeen 'hands,' including his wife and himself, but at the time of our visit there was no work going on in one of the cellars. In the other there were nine girls and women, some at work, and others taking a 'breakfast.' The countenances of all—proprietor and proprietor's wife, women and girls—bore sallow evidence of the effects of spending many hours a day in a close place. It is but fair to add that the profits of 'sweater' appear to be anything but excessive. He is, in fact, but a contractor for the shops, and is himself nearly as poor as those he employs.

Opera in Australia.

A glimpse of Mr. Hussey's experience in operatic management in the Australian bush is given in the following amusing extract:

I have played in places that I never before heard of, and could not find save by carefully consulting the map; but I found wherever I went they had heard of me. When I arrived in Greenfell I made up my mind to return to Victoria, and we had to drive 130 miles to the now famous Nagga Nagga, without playing on the road. There were no hotels, and some nights we had to camp out; at others we stayed at some of the large stations. This last mode of resting was when we happened to arrive in the neighborhood of a station before it was dark. We found all this "roughing" it exceedingly pleasant, and we enjoyed perfect health. At the stations they were exceedingly kind to us, and gave us the opportunity of a little kangaroo and emu hunting. Of kangaroos we saw literally thousands. In the course of our journeyings in this region some amusing scenes happened in connection with our performances. It is the fashion in this part of the world for men, women and children to take their pet dogs to an entertainment, so that sometimes the dogs appear to be the most numerous portion of the audience. We have, in consequence, become quite used to the interruptions of dog fights, of which there will be probably half a dozen in the course of an evening. Though accustomed to them, however, I cannot say we enjoy them, but the audience always takes the most lively interest in them. I distinctly remember, one evening, to admit a lady who came to the door with an enormous mastiff, for I foresaw mischief to the smaller canine visitors, but she indignantly replied that if her dog did not go in she would not, and her refusal was applauded by the bystanders; so in they both went, and since then "the dogs have had their day," or rather night. At one place, while Mrs. Hussey was singing "Put me in my little bed" to a crowded house, a large centipede was discovered wriggling on a lady's dress. In ten seconds the whole audience was demoralized in doing execution upon the reptile. Order was hardly restored when there was a cry of "snake," and every one jumped on the benches. Sure enough there was a large black snake under the pianist's chair. This intruder was also dispatched and again tranquility reigned. Then there was a more than usually boisterous dog fight. This, of course, was only an ordinary occurrence, but as out of it grew a fight between the owners of the dogs, necessitating the calling of the police and the putting out of two-legged combatants, we had rather a lively time of it. Everybody, however, said the entertainment was a great success, but whether on account of the centipede, the snake, the dogs, the pugilists, the police, or our own efforts to please, I could not quite learn.

A Picnic Party Struck by Lightning on a Pleasure Barge.

[From the New Haven Palladium, Aug 24th]

At about five o'clock Thursday afternoon, while the barge Francis Risley was returning to Middletown from Saybrook with an excursion party of about 300 souls, the lightning struck the top of the mainmast with such force as to split it, besides shaking the powerful barge from stem to stern. The fluid then passed down to the upper deck, where it separated, one part following the chain which connects the pilot wheel with the rudder until it reached the stern, where it darted down into the hold of the vessel. The other portion proceeded down the mainmast to the main deck, prostrating about twenty ladies and gentlemen, and then going to the cabin, where it passed out of a window.

Of course this was done in a moment of time. All the excursion party were affected by the shock, some of them quite seriously. A boy named Foster, whose father is employed at the W. & B. Douglas establishment, in Middletown, was supposed to be dead for some time, but he is recovering, though still suffering. The lightning burned a large hole in his hat. Another boy named Dailey, was also seriously injured. Andrew Colby, a member of the Middletown Cornet Band, under whose auspices the excursion took place, was standing with his arm around the mainmast when the bolt came down, and has not since recovered the use of his arm. John Wall, another member of the band, received a severe shock, as also did Patrick Neaville. Some twenty or thirty others were partially paralyzed for a few minutes. Several ladies fainted. One lady had her silk sack rent in many pieces by the lightning.

A severe tempest of rain and wind accompanied the lightning, lasting about fifteen minutes after the accident, which happened when the boat was about one mile north of Lyme bridge. During this time a sloop was almost capsized by the gale, turned ashore torn up, and the lightning flashed almost incessantly. The scene on board was one which those on board who witnessed it will never forget. After the first shock was over it was feared that the lightning fire in the hold had set the boat on fire. Mothers called for their children, and all searched for their nearest friends. Some one raised the cry of fire. The gale was fast blowing the barge toward the shore, and in order to prevent this the awnings were cut down. As soon as order was restored attention was given to quite a number of persons who were still lying on deck paralyzed, and these unfortunates were subdued until the boat reached Middletown at 2:30 p. m.

The smell of the sulphur was quite strong for some minutes after the accident. A large number complained of a singular sensation in their feet, and others in their faces. About an hour afterward, while the boat was approaching Deep River, appearances indicated another storm, and therefore about one-third of the party landed at this station, from which they took the Valley Railroad cars for home, but did not arrive until near midnight, as the evening train from Saybrook waited nearly three hours for the steamer. Sunshine, which was delayed by the gale, The barge Risley remained at Middletown until morning, and then proceeded to Hartford, but was not but slightly damaged, not sufficient to cripple it. Probably $300 or $400 will cover the loss to the boat.

Old John Harper's Opinion of Longfellow.

From Wilkes' Spirit.

DEAR SPIRIT: I am about to return to my home in Kentucky, and I may never come East again. I am an old man (your readers may not be interested to know how old, but I have been a companion of race horses for three score years) and every year that I have lived I have learned something. I, however, have never learned that there was anything more reliable than a game thoroughbred horse, unless it was a game chicken, but with the latter, "it is its nature to fight;" it has no brain other than the idea of fight unto death; but a horse is an intelligent animal. My horses always understood me, and I knew just what they asked for. I have bred and owned many good horses, one of whom, when I trained him for a race, would just win if he could or die in the attempt. They never deceived me; unless they met a better horse, they always won. Therefore, knowing they would never deceive me, I have made them my companions, and obtained the pleasure of my life from the association. Who that has trusted any other animal, or indeed a human being, can say more?

My horse Longfellow will not race again, because he has met with an accident that will prevent it; but not only was he the best and gamest race-horse that I ever owned, but, in my judgment, he was the best racehorse that this or any other country has known. Had he remained sound to the end of the race at Saratoga he would have made time never dreamed of, and I not only believe, but I feel quite certain, that fit and well, he could have run four miles, without whip or spur, in 7:42. I know not that his competitor in the Saratoga Cup cared to do this also. I can only say that I won't believe it until he has done it; but he is a good horse, and any one who says to the contrary does not know a good one when he sees him. Leamington stood one season in Kentucky. He got Lynchburg, Enquirer, Lyttleton and Longfellow, the four best horses ever bred in that State in any one season. It is not as if they were four out of a hundred, but they were the only four that ever ran of that season's get. Therefore, I say that Leamington was the best sire that we have bred from, and the man who selected him (on account of his matchless form, performances, and breeding) against English prejudices, deserves the thanks of American breeders.

The gentleman who now owns him makes a mistake in not keeping him in Kentucky, the home of more good, sound, and well-bred mares than any other State or country in the world. I see by your paper that Blair Athol sold recently in England for a large price, about $75,000, but I can only say that I do not believe he is a truer shaped horse than Leamington, and, if the two were in Kentucky, the brown horse would get all my mares. If my opinion is considered of any value, I would say to breeders, get all the well bred ones (on the dam's side) descended of Leamington you can, and keep them. I believe that crossed with the best sons of Lexington, such as Kingfisher or Harry Bassett, they will produce all the winners of the next twenty years that will not come from Longfellow, the best son of Leamington. I must not forget to correct the impression made by a statement about Bobby Swim. I that I refused to allow him, for certain reasons, to ride my horse in Long Branch. Such was not the case. I have no reason to doubt Swim's honesty or ability to ride a race satisfactorily, nor can I close this letter without acknowledging the great kindness and sympathy that I have met with here in the East. It has made an impression that will accompany me to Kentucky and to the grave, and I have come to the conclusion that while in old Kentucky is the home of the best horses, the East is the home of the most unselfish and sympathizing men.

Your friend, JOHN HARPER.

An English Watering Place.

A visitor to Brighton just before the races writes as follows:

"Although many of the most aristocratic hotels and most palatial lodging-houses and private apartments in Brighton may be thronged from garret to basement during the next five days, in consequence of that race meeting of which Admiral Rous and Sir Frederick Johnston are to be the stewards, it is extremely questionable whether a tithe of the thousands of visitors at present enjoying the hospitality of the queen of watering places have been attracted thither by the promised attractions of the race week. Ladies and children in particular are here in legions, and ladies and children, as a rule, certainly care nothing about racing. They and the pursy old gentlemen with the white waistcoats and the rubicund countenances, who rather look as though they knew the difference between a magnum of "twenty-port" and a bottle of blacking; they and the comfortable spinsters who never travel without an india-rubber pillow and a pig dog smuggled in a picnic basket; the swarthy Portuguese, Spaniards, and other foreigners, who find a Sunday at the Bedford, the Grand, or the Old Ship, with a drive on the Cliff or a stroll on the Pier, infinitely preferable to a Sunday in London; the dashing young fellows from the Guards' Club or from Aldershot, who just run down from Saturday to Monday, you know; the overworked heads of departments, who have snatched a few hours' relaxation from the toils of government office work; the fagged out barristers; the jaded attorneys; the wearied M. P.'s—nay, a few aldermen and civic functionaries, possibly seeking a soothing alterative after a too severe course of dinners, luncheons, and swan-hopping banquets—all these I strongly suspect, come to Arighton in the summer, and at this particular season, not with the slightest sporting intent, but simply for Brighton's own sweet sake. The enemies of this incomparable marine villeggiatura—who has not enemies?—declare that it is too hot at this particular spot of the Sussex coast in July and August, and, moreover, that there is a deficiency of shade to counteract the excessive heat. I controvert these assertions. I say that there is plenty of shade in North street, and under the Colonnade, and in the Pavilion Gardens, and there will be plenty more in the New Aquarium. As to the ridiculous statement that it is intolerably hot on the cliff and on the parade, where, I ask, is the use of having any summer at all without heat? If you did not broil during the day you might not feel inclined to go and cool yourself at Brill's baths; you would have no relish for your seltzer and ice and things at Mutton's; and you would not, most assuredly, enjoy the cool of the evening and the military band on the new pier at night. But there are some people who are never satisfied!"

Spontaneous Ignition.

If any one wants to know how easily a house may be set on fire and how difficult the detection of the cause may become, let him read the following record of certain experiments made with materials which lie around loose in almost every dwelling and stores. Here we have the results of actual investigations made with the view of seeing what old and dirty rags would accomplish if left to themselves. And if, as we are told, more than three-fourths of all the fires which occur are caused by carelessness and incendiarism, it is a safe inference that the most mysterious among the rest may arise from just such simple causes as those detailed below.

The Scientific Press reports that in March last a Detroit druggist, assisted by two gentlemen, resolved to make a number of experiments with regard to spontaneous combustion. They first took a piece of cotton cloth, which had once formed part of a sheet, and which had been used until quite threadbare, and saucered it with boiled linseed oil. An old chest was placed in the left of a store-room, back of a drug store, a piece of zinc over it, another piece under it, and then the chest filled with paper and rags, and this particular piece of cloth placed in the centre. Although the room was not light, and the weather cool, in eight days there was such a smell of fire about the trunk, and the chances were so great for a conflagration within it, that the contents were emptied. An examination showed the fibre of the oiled cloth had become uncoiled and shriveled up, and that the ring looked as if it had been laid too near a hot blaze. In April, when the rays of the sun were stronger, a pair of painter's overalls, literally covered with paint and oil, were rolled up, a handful of pine shavings placed inside, and these were placed next to the roof-boards of the hotel. The experiment was not a week old when, during one warm afternoon, a smell of smoke alarmed a workman in the next room, and he found the overalls burning. During the hot weather of August, a handful of old cotton rags, in which two matches were placed, but which were not smeared with oil or other matter, were shut up in a tin box, and hung up in the loft, a window allowing the afternoon sun to shine directly on the box for several hours. On the fourth day the box was taken down to see how the experiment was progressing, and the contents was found to consist of nothing but a puff of black cinders. The old chest was again filled, this time with the contents of a rag-bag, some portions of them being smeared with benzine. The trunk was placed in an out-house. One day the family came home to find a few ashes marking the place where the trunk stood, while the bricks above and around were badly stained with smoke.

Tubing and Casing.
We would call the particular attention of dealers and producers to this make of Tubing and Casing. One of the important features in the manufacture of our Tubing is that the Lap and the Weld are made perfectly straight, smooth and uniform, thereby giving equal and great strength to the tubing throughout.
Each joint carefully inspected, reamed at end and proved with the sockets on a hydraulic pressure of 1,200 pounds to the square inch before shipment.
Each length stamped with our trade mark.

Titusville Pipe Company.
NOTICE.
OFFICE OF THE TITUSVILLE PIPE CO., TITUSVILLE, PA., June 19, 1872.
Oil is received by this Company for transportation ONLY NOT FOR STORAGE. It is ready for delivery to the owner within twenty-four hours after its receipt by the company, and any liability incurred by the company, ceases upon the expiration of twenty-four hours. Owners of oil are expected to remove it with promptness, and if not so removed, it remains entirely at the OWNER'S RISK OF LOSS FROM WHATSOEVER CAUSE OCCURRING.
All oils now in the company's tanks which shall not be removed therefrom within two months from the date of its receipt by the company, will be subject to an additional charge of one cent per barrel per day from the date of its receipt until its removal.
All oil hereafter received by the company, which shall be allowed to remain in its tanks longer than one month, shall be subject to an additional charge of one cent per barrel per day, from the date of its receipt until its removal.
Receipts will be issued for oil. Orders upon the company will not be recognized.
This company has tankage amply sufficient for all the reasonable requirements of its customers, and is disposed to afford them all the facilities in its power; but of late our tanks have been overcrowded by the failure of owners to remove their oil, to the great inconvenience of producers along our line who have been unable to get oil removed from their wells.
To remedy this difficulty and still meet all the legitimate wants of producers and the trade, the above system of additional charges has been adopted.

The Morning Herald.

Thursday, August 29, 1872.

Political Squibs.

—Doolittle has retired from the field with large sized "flea in his ear." He is probably smothered in "cotton."

—The Albany Journal says that twenty Democrats in Albany have signed a declaration that they will support Grant and Wilson.

—With O'Conor, or any other straight-out Democrat, in the field, it is now confidently stated that Greeley will not carry a single state.

—The Cleveland Herald says that Cuyahoga county, Ohio, will give Grant a larger majority this year than it ever gave a candidate.

—West Virginia, to the dismay of Democrats, and the surprise of even Republicans, heels into line. The Governor elect, Jacobs, refuses to swallow Greeley.

—Banks don't keep his appointments to speak at the East, and we hope he wont in the West, in Titusville for instance. No one here will feel slighted who signed the call.

—The soldiers don't like the editor who, by crying "On to Richmond," butchered so many of their comrades. They prefer the soldiers that led them to victory and saved the Union.

—Blanton Duncan predicts that the Republicans will, before November, be compelled to fight the nominee of the Louisville convention, paying no attention to the liberal side show. As you please, gentlemen.

—The Tribune is demoralized by "the signs of the times." To quote its own language of last Saturday, "We are likely to be beaten if we do not do more than we are doing." The Cincinnati bubble is evidently about to "burst."

—A correspondent of the New York Times writing from Pennsylvania says: "For the last four weeks the prospect has been steadily improving, and to-day the tidings from every quarter of the State justify the statement that General Hartranft's success is certain."

—The Rev. Edward Everett Hale calls attention, in an article in Old and New, to the fact mentioned by Parton, Mr. Greeley's enthusiastic biographer, that the reason of the failure of Mr. Greeley's newspaper, the New Yorker, was his constitutional and incurable inability to conduct business. He was never entrusted with any business again.

—The spasmodic enthusiasm for Greeley and Brown is fast dying out in Maine, as election day approaches. Banks, Doolittle, and other renegades in Maine, are trying to get up a feeling in favor of the sorehead ticket, but reliable information from different parts of the State, leaves no doubt of an increased Republican majority.

—The Cincinnati Gazette says, referring to Greeley's attempted denial that he offered pledges to the South: "The question for Mr. Greeley to have answered was this: Will you, if elected, execute the Ku Klux law and other laws and other legislation designed for the protection of the men of the south? If he answered this question in the affirmative he could not carry one Southern state, and he knew it."

—The Cincinnati Times—straight Democrat—is of the opinion that those who have been pooh-poohing the Louisville Convention will before long be as much astonished as the man who in Noah's time thought there was not going to be much of a shower. It has information from nearly every quarter in the Union of the appointment of delegates, and the assembling of a Convention whose proceedings will exert an important influence on the Presidential election which no longer doubted.

—"Josie" Mansfield has published a card in which she says that General Grant was never at her house, as some of the Greeley journals had stated. It is as follows:

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 19, 1872.

During my temporary absence from New York my attention has been called to an article in the New York Star, which says that no one can deny the fact that President Grant has been in my house with Fisk and others, engaged in drinking and debauchery while I have no interest in defending President Grant, yet I feel that justice compels me to deny such an infamous falsehood. General Grant was never in my house in his life. A. JOSIE MANSFIELD.

—The Herald says General Dix is the best man that could be selected for the Republican nomination for Governor of New York, and that honest Democrats will gladly support him. The World says the ticket is an easy one to beat, but the leading Democratic paper of the metropolis—the Tribune says—that the Democracy will have to nominate strong men to defeat such a ticket as the Republicans have put up. The Buffalo Express thinks so too—and much stronger men than train with the Democratic party now-a-days.

Persons and Things.

—It is now said that Catacazy is one of the assistant editors of the Paris Figaro.

—The State of Nevada has sanctioned the drawing of a lottery for the benefit of her lunatic asylums.

—Prof. Winchell, of the Michigan State University, has accepted the Presidency of the Syracuse College.

—Sir John Peter Grant, the Governor of Jamaica, proposes very shortly to visit the United States and Canada.

—Samuel Sangster, the well-known line-graver, died in London the last of June, in the sixty-eighth year of his age.

—Mr. B. P. Shillaber has in press a new volume, entitled, "Partingtonina Patchork," which will soon be published.

—M. Mollier, the last survivor of the famous wreck of Le Madusa, is dead, aged 77. He was an officer of the Legion of Honor.

—Lullier, the Communist leader, has gone crazy. He imagines himself in command of troops, and continually yells orders to them.

—Mr. W. P. Williams, of Stratford, Ct., owns an Egyptian coin two thousand years old, for which large sums of money have been offered.

—The works now erecting by the German troops occupying the French towns of Belfort and Verdun are not fortifications, but merely winter quarters.

—A gentleman of statistical tendencies finds that 706 books and pamphlets have been written against Methodism, and Methodism survives and is strong.

—The chief signal officer at Washington is now engaged in perfecting an apparatus by which the appearance and forms of the clouds at sunset may be recorded.

—Mr. Frederic Robinson, so well and favorably known to our theatre-goers, has just returned from England, and goes next season to fill an engagement at New Orleans.

—The French Countess de Macielly, whose husband was killed near Patay, in the late war, has taken the vail as a Sister of Charity She was once a reigning beauty.

—The substance of Brigham Young's lectures in his new lyceum tour is an exhortation to young men and maidens to marry. He can't be accused of preaching what he doesn't practice.

—An historical French lady, so old as to forget she had ever belonged to history, has just died, in the 102d year of her age. Madame Ulrich de Beauge et de Melguel, dame d'honneur to Marie Antoinette.

—Bartholemy St. Hilaire has built a tomb for himself, next to the monument which he and Miguet erected over Victor Cousin's grave. Messrs. St. Hilaire and Miguet received estates, by will, from Victor Cousin.

—John Ruskin "begs leave to state," in a recently published letter relative to demands upon his attention—"I was good natured once, but I beg to state in the most positive terms, that I am now old, tired and very ill natured."

—Dan Godfrey, leader of the English Grenadier Guards' band, it is said, wants to visit America again and make a professional tour. To do so, it will be necessary for him to obtain a leave of absence from the army authorities of England.

—The total number of passengers leaving New York by steamer for Europe from April 1st to July 31st, amounted to 18,308. The fares charged for the passage ranged from sixty-five dollars currency to one hundred and thirty dollars gold.

NEW YORK.

Yacht Race.

NEW YORK, August 28.

The race yesterday, for two thousand dollars, between the yachts Maude and W. S. Davids, was won by the former.

The Simon-Pure Democracy.

The meeting of the Apollo Hall Anti-Tammany Democratic Committee, last night, was fully attended. Judge Spaulding was elected Chairman in place of Wilkham, resigned. Spaulding made a strong anti-Tammany-Greeley speech, and said the Democracy looked to the Louisville Convention for help. Resolutions to appoint delegates to Louisville, who shall be instructed to vote for Charles O'Conor for candidate for the Presidency, were passed almost unanimously. During the debate, Dal. R. Lyddy said the action of the Baltimore Convention was the result of intrigue between the Tammany Ring and corrupt Republicans, and Governor Hoffman, who was a thief and an ally of thieves, being the moving Tammany spirit. Judge Hogan opposed the resolution, saying no third candidate would now have any choice of election, and defended the action of the Baltimore Convention.

The Democratic Gubernatorial Candidates.

A Niagara Falls dispatch to the Herald, states that the prominent Greeleyites and Democrats are congregated there to wake up the State for the Syracuse Convention. Augustus Schell is the most prominent name at present mentioned as the Gubernatorial candidate, while Judge Church favors the nomination of Charles O'Conor as the most probable one to defeat Dix. It is said O'Conor will accept the nomination if unanimous, and if the Democratic party will pledge itself to reform in New York City.

A Greeley Banner Ordered Removed.

The Methodist Book Concern having complained of a Greeley and Brown banner in front of their premises, Commissioner Vannorth has ordered its removal, as no permit was asked for. It is stated its removal will be resisted.

Stanley's Letters.

The Sun this morning prints a fac simile of the letters of Stanley to Livingstone and Bennett. They are wonderfully alike.

Mayor Yarn

of Jeddo, sails to-day for Europe. He was feted by Mayor Hall.

Revenue Stamps Stolen.

Nine thousand dollars worth of revenue stamps were stolen at Cleveland, some time since, and found in this city by detectives.

The Tobacco Tax.

It is stated that Attorney General Williams has decided against the ruling of the Internal Revenue Commissioner, on the question whether tobacco bonded between June 5th and July 1st shall pay thirty-two cents or twenty cents per pound. The latter tax is decided legal by the Attorney General.

Letter from Henry Wilson.

A letter from Henry Wilson to the Germans of Brooklyn is published, in which he states that he never was a member of the Know Nothing party, but always opposed it.

Liquors Seized.

A Jameston, Dakotah, dispatch state the Government troops surrounded that town yesterday, seized and destroyed all liquors in the place, and imprisoned half a dozen whisky dealers.

Steamship Disaster—Thirty Lives Lost.

A Lisbon dispatch from Oporto, states the steamship Persevance, went ashore during a fog, at the entrance of the harbor, and become a total loss. Thirty persons were drowned.

Amateur Oarsmen Convention.

On the reassembling of the Convention of Amateur Oarsmen, the Committee on Credentials reported delegates from Detroit, Saginaw, Boston, Rochester, Jersey City, Philadelphia, Newark, Brooklyn and New York. James M. Ferguson, of Philadelphia, was chosen permanent President, and A. F. Dexter, of Narragansett, Vice President. Adjourned.

Release Granted.

Judge McCue to-day granted a release of attachment of Madden and Landers, on the property of the Staten Island Ferry Company, in order that the transfer of the property can be made to purchaser. The company furnish surety for $20,000.

A Heavy Law Suit.

NEWBURG, August 28.

The first hearing in the suit of W. A. Woodward against Ezra Cornell, founder of Cornell University, to recover $117,000 for locating government lands granted to the University was had here to-day, before referees. The case will probably continue several months. Plaintiff was examined to-day.

Vessels Sunk.

BUFFALO, August 28.

A large scow, laden with staves, sunk yesterday in the Niagara River, with two boys on board, and two corn laden canal boats beached at the same time, the current being too strong for the tug, which was towing them, and they collided with other crafts.

O'Conor as Governor.

ALBANY, August 28.

It is authoritatively stated that the leading candidates heretofore named for Governor, at the Syracuse Convention, and their friends, have agreed to nominate by acclamation Charles O'Conor, as the only name on which all factions can be harmonized, and as the only absolute exponent of reform acceptable to the proposed coalition of this State. It is authoritatively stated that Governor Hoffman has agreed to attend the convention in person, and present the name of Charles O'Conor as his successor, and a joint withdrawal of Judge Church and Governor Hoffman. It is also authoritatively stated that the friends of Mr. O'Conor have given assurances of their ability to secure his acceptance of the responsibility in the interest of reform.

The Burglar Policeman.

BUFFALO, August 28.

The District Attorney intends to push the trial of Aiken, the burglar policeman. It is probable he will be tried Saturday next.

Ex-Judge Barnard.

It is reported Ex-Judge Barnard, who has been disqualified from practising at the bar, will go into the tobacco business with his father-in-law, Anderson. His friends say he bears up under his sentence bravely.

WASHINGTON.

Treasury Department Decision.

WASHINGTON, August 28.

The Treasury Department to-day decided not to exact the bond prescribed by the regulations of August 24 last, in regard to imported raw material for manufacture into articles for ship building, the department relying upon its lien upon vessels for collection of duty in case they subsequently accrue.

Ku-Klux Pardoned.

Warrants for the pardon of David Collins, William Teal, Amos Owens and William Scruggs, Ku-Klux convicts in the Albany Penitentiary, have been prepared at the Department of State, and will be signed by the President to-morrow and duly forwarded.

Supervisor Cobb.

North Carolina Republican members of Congress and others are making strenuous efforts to have Supervisor Cobb retained, and the matter will be settled by the President to-morrow.

The Alabama Claims.

Secretary Fish to-day communicated to the President the latest intelligence from Geneva, received through Bancroft Davis, from which a hopeful prospect is drawn. The Tribunal of Arbitration will probably conclude its labor by the middle of September, in a manner very satisfactory to this government thus confirming previous reports that the sum in gross will be awarded. In the settlement of the so-called Alabama Claims, the exact sum has been determined.

Appointments.

The President to-day appointed Simon Motz postmaster at Hayes City, Kansas, vice W. P. Carroll, resigned.

Secretary Delano

left Washington this afternoon for his home in Ohio, where he will remain for a short time to recruit his health, which has been somewhat impaired lately.

The Members of the Cabinet Pay Their Respects to the President.

All the members of the Cabinet are now in the city, and called on the President today to pay their respects and to consult with him in regard to matters pertaining to their several departments. Business of an important public character, which has accumulated during the absence of the President, will be brought before the Cabinet meeting to-morrow. The President has his sleeping quarters at the Executive Mansion, but takes his meals with Secretary Fish.

FOREIGN.

Franco-Prussian War Indemnity.

LONDON, August 28.

The Berlin journals state that the French Government will commence payment of another installment of the war indemnity next week.

Purchasing Independence.

The evening papers mention a rumor that a Colonel of the insurgent army in Cuba has arrived here, with instructions from the Provisional Government to negotiate a loan of $20,000,000, the amount to be tendered to Spain for the independence of Cuba. Although the Provisional Government has little hope that Spain will consent, they believe the offer will strengthen the insurgent cause among foreign powers.

MISSOURI.

Soldiers' Convention to Send Delegates to Pittsburgh.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28.

At a meeting of the soldiers, last night, it was decided to hold a State Convention of soldiers and sailors here on September 5th, when delegates will be elected to attend the Pittsburgh Convention.

National Bill Posters' Association.

A meeting of bill posters, from different parts of the Union, was held here yesterday, for the purpose of organizing a National Association. Representatives were present from several States. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, and the association will be organized to-day

Murdered.

John Cassady was brutally murdered at the railroad depot at Warrensburg, Missouri, last night, by unknown parties.

Congressional Nomination.

The Representatives of the Seventeenth Illinois district, in convention yesterday, unanimously nominated John B. Hay, for re-election to Congress.

Desperadoes Killed.

Some days ago two desparadoes, named McClelland and Wright, got into a quarrel at Hays City, Kansas, in which Wright was killed and McClelland badly wounded. McClelland was placed in jail and chained to a post with Pony Donovan, a noted horse thief. The second night after the murder, a band of citizens visited the jail and killed both McClelland and Donovan.

The New Custom House.

A dispatch was received here to-day from Supervising Architect Mullett, stating that Secretary Boutwell has directed District Attorney Krum to purchase for a Custom House site the block bounded by Sixth and Seventh and Olive and Pine streets, provided the citizens will make up the difference between its assessed valuation and the Congressional appropriation. If this is not done, then the District Attorney is directed to purchase the block between Eighth and Ninth and Olive and Locust streets. The value of the former block is six hundred and ninety-six thousand dollars, and of the latter three hundred and forty-two thousand. The Congressional appropriation is half a million.

Delegates to Louisville.

It will be announced to-morrow that the straight-out Democrats recently held a meeting in the First, Second and Third Congressional districts and elected two delegates and alternates to the Louisville Convention.

ILLINOIS.

Races Postponed.

CHICAGO, August 28.

The Dexter Park races, which were to have commenced to-day, were postponed on account of the heavy rain last night and frequent showers during the day. To-day's programe will be gone through with tomorrow if the weather and track are favorable.

Incendiary Fire.

A fire at Woodstock, Illinois, last night, destroyed the Exchange Hotel and a block of business houses. Loss estimated at between $35,000 and $45,000. It was the work of an incendiary.

Investigating Committee.

A Springfield, Illinois, dispatch, this evening, says a committee appointed by the Presbytry of Louisville, Kentucky, are there to-day to investigate the standing of Rev. Gilbert, Robertson while pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of that city. It is understood they will inquire particularly as to his habit of drinking intoxicating liquor.

Letter from Charles O'Conor.

The Inter-Ocean to-morrow will publish the following letter from Charles O'Conor:

NEW YORK, August 27.

MY DEAR SIR: I was and am in favor of the Louisville movement. Even the mere profession of adherence to Democratic ideas must soon disappear if, without our marked dissent, the party can be transferred to its deadliest foe.

[Signed] CHARLES O'CONOR.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Mariners Sentenced for Disrespect.

BOSTON, August 28.

Two mariners named Welch and Donnelly were taken from the United States frigate, Worcester, now in strain, and were sent to the State Prison at Weathersfield, Connecticut. They were tried at sea for issuing disrespectful language to an officer, and one account states they struck a fleet marine officer, Major Butler. They were sentenced to seven years imprisonment each, but the sentence was commuted at Washington to four years.

Prize Fight.

A large party of roughs left Boston this morning said to be bound for Campbell Island, off East Port, Maine, to witness a prize fight between Timoly, of Providence, and Kelly, of Boston. It is reported that the fight will take place Friday morning.

Republican State Convention.

WORCESTER, August 28.

The Republican State Convention met here to-day. Hon. Thomas Talbott, of Billerica, new candidate, was nominated for Lieutenant Governor. With this exception, the old State ticket, headed by Governor William B. Washburn, was nominated. Judge E. R. Hoar, of Concord, and John H. Forbes, of Milton, were nominated for electors at large. There were nine hundred and fifty delegates. Dr. George B. Loring presided, and spoke for an hour with great effect in behalf of Grant and Wilson and the Republican party. On the ballot for Governor, 259 votes were cast for General Butler.

KENTUCKY.

The True Democrat.

LOUISVILLE, August 28.

Col. Blanton Duncan has issued a prospectus for a new evening paper to be published here, entitled the True Democrat, the first number to be issued the 2d of September. The prospectus says whenever 4,000 subscribers are obtained the paper will be changed to a morning daily.

The Convention.

Rooms have been obtained at the Galt House for forty delegates from New York, thirty from Michigan and twenty from Indiana, for the Democratic Convention on the 3d of September. The Convention will be held in the Court House, all the halls in town being engaged during the Exposition.

The Exposition.

The rumor having gone out that the opening of the exposition will be postponed, the directors announce that it will positively open on the 3d. Everything is nearly ready and hundreds of workmen are engaged night and day completing the preparations. Governor Leslie has been invited to deliver the opening address.

Damages Recovered.

At Elizabethtown, on Monday, A. E. Smith recovered $20,000 damages against the L. & N. R. R. for injury to his right leg in a collision a year ago.

OHIO.

Boiler Explosion at Youngstown.

CLEVELAND, August 28.

A boiler in the rolling mill of Brown, Bennet & Co., of Youngstown, Ohio, exploded this afternoon. The fireman, Garathy, was instantly killed. A large piece of the boiler fell in the house of Wm. Quigley, and instantly killed Mrs. Quigley and child, and fatally injured Mr. Quigley. The mill will be stopped about a month.

An Old Brute.

COLUMBUS, August 28.

John Rushmer, aged about seventy, respectably connected, and hitherto a consistent church member, has been recently discovered in attempts to violate little girls from ten to thirteen years old. Two of his victims are under medical treatment. Rushmer has left the city.

Mutes' Re-union.

The Alumni of the Ohio Institution for the Deaf and Dumb are holding a reunion here. Nearly two hundred are present.

Methodist Conference.

CINCINNATI, August 28.

The Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Bishop Wiley presiding, commenced at Eaton, Preble county, this forenoon. Rev. W. H. Sutherland was elected secretary, and committees were appointed. The Conference will probably continue one week. The citizens of Eaton entertain the members of the Conference.

CALIFORNIA.

The Railroad War.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 28.

The Committee of One Hundred this afternoon, by a vote of thirty-three against twenty-nine, rejected the report indirectly favoring the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad project, and adopted resolutions endorsing the proposed Ravenswood bridge, two and a half million subsidy, and compromise with the Central Pacific, by thirty-eight against thirty-four, but immediately after, amid confusion and wrangling, voted to adjourn sine die.

General McClellan.

Preparations are being made to give Gen. McClellan a grand reception. On his arrival this evening the entire National Guard will escort him to the hotel.

Mexican Affairs.

The steamer Montana brings later advices from western Mexico. Diaz disbanded his forces and went towards Chihuahua, with what object is unknown.

Flores, Federal Governor of Simaloa, who ordered the protraction of martial law, while riding in the suburbs of Mazaltin, was seized by a gang of kidnappers, composed of late rebel soldiers, and carried into the mountains. A large ransom is demanded for his release.

WEST VIRGINIA.

The Election.

WHEELING, August 28.

The Intelligencer has corrected reports from forty-six counties, most of them official, which gives Governor Jacobs a majority of 3,208. Reports on the Constitution from forty-one counties give a majority of 1,095 for ratification. Eight counties are yet to be heard from on Governor, and thirteen on Constitution. The Intelligencer estimates that these will reduce Jacob's majority to about 2,500 and increase the majority for the Constitution to at least 2,000. Davis, for Congress, in the Third District, has a thousand and ten majority, and one small county to hear from.

NEW JERSEY.

Republican State Convention.

TRENTON, August 28.

A Republican State Convention, to nominate an electoral ticket, will be held in this city to-morrow. Secretary Robeson, Hon. Courtlandt Parker, and leading men of the party generally, will be there.

Democratic State Convention.

The Democrats have issued a call for a State Convention to be held in this city, September 11th.

RHODE ISLAND.

Cuban Man-of-War Seized.

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 28.

In the United States District Court to-day, Judge Knowles adjudged the Cuban war vessel, Pioneer, forfeited to the United States, and ordered a warrant of sale.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Mayor Hall, of New York, yesterday entertained Mayor Yora, of Jeddo.

The Boston Base Ball Club defeated the Pastimes yesterday, at Ogdensburg, N. Y., by a score of 16 to 1.

There were forty-eight fatal cases of sunstroke in St. Louis yesterday, and twice that number of prostrations.

The straight Democratic Convention of Michigan yesterday appointed C. C. Burr and Owen Groom delegates to Louisville.

The Boston, Massachusetts, Prohibitory Convention, held yesterday, voted 40 to 33 against nominating a Temperance State ticket.

Senator Wilson was knocked down by a runaway team last night at Portland, Maine, but escaped with a few slight bruises.

The third annual meeting of the Northern Ohio Fair Association, will be held in Cleveland, on September 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th.

The Republican county convention, held at Bellfonte, Centre county, Pa., yesterday, nominated ex-Governor Curtin for Congress by acclamation.

Hon. Emory A. Storrs, of Chicago, addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting of Republicans at the Wigwam, in Indianapolis, last evening.

Reports from all sections of the State of Arkansas says the present drought has injured the cotton crop at least one-third. The heated term still continues.

Hon. Ellis H. Roberts, of Utica, New York, was yesterday re-nominated by acclamation for Congress by the Oneida County Republican Convention.

A large meeting of soldiers was held in Chicago last night to select fifty delegates to attend the Soldiers' National Convention at Pittsburgh, on the 17th of September.

The United States steamer Santie sailed yesterday from Fortress Monroe for the East India squadron. She will touch at Gibraltar and pass through the Suez Canal.

The four mile heat race to-day at Long Branch causes great excitement, as some of the horses were never known to start in a four mile race before. Frank Hampton is the favorite.

Conventions of the Straight-out Democrats have been held during the last few days in nearly every Congressional District in Indiana, and have appointed delegates to the Louisville Convention.

A Carlisle, Pa., dispatch says the trial of Dr. Henry Schoepe, for the murder of Miss Stinecke, three years ago, commenced yesterday morning. Much difficulty is anticipated in procuring a jury.

The President and Secretary Fish returned to Washington yesterday, and the clerks were again at the desks transacting business. Many persons were in the reception room awaiting an interview with the President.

Hon. Warren Cowles, United States District Attorney for Dakotah Territory, died at his residence in Vermillion yesterday, after a brief illness. He was a resident of Pennsylvania at the time of his appointment, three years ago.

A letter from Indian Bay, Arkansas, says that, owing to the drought, no rain having fallen for over seven weeks, the cotton crop will not be more than a one-third yield, and unless they have rain soon, the late crop will be an entire failure.

The boiler of an engine running a threshing machine at Highland, Oakland county, Michigan, exploded yesterday afternoon, fatally injuring Edson Tenny and instantly killing Columbus O'Dell, Chas. Williams and Monroe Tenny. Two others were seriously injured.

—Here is a cheerful paragraph for Democrats. In his late speech at Terre Haute Mr. Voorhees, of Indiana, one of the most sagacious Democratic politicians in the country, made the following declaration: "I think I understand the heart of the laboring people, who compose the great majority of the Democratic party, and I hazard nothing in saying that, even if Mr. Greeley should be nominated at Baltimore, and every Democrat of distinction, whether in public or private life, from one ocean to the other, should support him, he would not receive an average of more than fifty per cent. of the Democratic votes of the United States. This I as firmly believe as I do that the sun will rise to-morrow. And if the madness and folly of the hour should consummate his nomination, I am willing my judgment may be tested hereafter by the record I make here to-night."

The number of passenger trains dispatched from Boston daily, except Sundays, is 262, and as many arrive daily. The Old Colony sends the largest number, forty-four, and the Eastern is next, with forty-two. The Hartford and Erie has the smallest number, eleven.

There is said to be in the mountains of North Georgia what is known as the "vernal belt," which is about half way up the east side of the mountain, which is never injured by frost, while at the foot and top of the mountain everything is killed by the frost.

Special Notices.

Want of Vitality.—If a deficiency of vital energy is not a disease in itself it is a condition which lays the system open to the attacks of all conceivable maladies. Night and day we are surrounded more or less by deleterious influences. No atmosphere is entirely pure, no water entirely from injurious particles; while in many localities both are positively unwholesome. What defence has the weak, languid system, in which the vital principle is deficient or dormant, against any of the morbid influences which produce epidemic and other diseases? None whatever. There is no safety save in artificial strengthening. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have, beyond all question, a vitalizing effect. If the nervous forces of the body have been recklessly expended in exhausting physical or mental labor, or dissipated in the indulgences of a "fast" life, this powerful vegetable tonic and corrective will restore them. If the defective vitality is a constitutional evil it can be remedied to a great extent by this wonderful invigorant. At a season of the year when the air is more or less impregnated with the seeds of periodic fevers, it is especially desirable that the digestion should be perfect, the habit of body regular, the liver active, the blood pure and the nerves firm. These conditions are the best protection against all disorders, and they are conditions which the Bitters are better adopted than any other medicinal agent to promote and secure. See to it, however, that no imitation or counterfeit is substituted for the genuine article, and let all who value health and have an antipathy to poison beware of the local bitters made from condemned drugs and vilely adulterated alcohol, which have sprung up like unwholesome fungi all over the country.

The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $331,000 to-day.

Governments strong and advanced ⅛@⅜ in sympathy with gold. The Treasury bought $1,000,000 at 112 22-100 to 112, and paid for them in legal tenders.

State bonds closed dull and steady.

Stocks firmer with increased dealings. There has been an advance in three out of the general list of from ½@1c. The greatest improvement was in St. Paul common, Pacific Mail, Northwestern, Ohios, New York Central, C. C. & I. C. and Western Union Telegraph. Operations in Erie to-day were limited and the fluctuations were confined within narrow limits. The advance in Ohios is attributed to the operations of a small ball in the stock, and the advance in N. Y. Central is occasioned by the revival of the story of a ten per cent. scrip dividend with 5 per cent cash called up. The market closed very strong.

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, August 28.

A general activity now prevails in all the different departments of trade and transactions for the day are reported as very satisfactory. Brown sheetings and shirtings were in fair demand at current rates. Bleached goods are improving in activity, and the market is more settled. Cotton drills were in moderate request for home demand; Cotton flannels are increasing in wants and fair sales are reported for the day. Wool flannels are active, for popular makes. Ticks, stripes and checks each are in fair request. Woolens are gaining in activity and more enquiry is noticed for all grades. Cloths and coatings were in moderate demand, and the market for some makes was fairly active. Fancy cassimeres of desirable styles and fabrics were sought for, and sales of certain makes were sold up in some favorite makes, while others remain inactive. In the foreign dry goods market the fine cool weather produces a cheerful feeling. Several large auction sales to-day were all well attended, and sales were made at firm prices.

City Chat.

—Titusville has no female physician.

—Two Sunday-school pic-nics came off yesterday.

—Titusville will be a railroad centre a year hence.

—The public schools of our city open on Monday next.

—The city has been remarkably free from fires the present year.

—No sunstrokes reported in Titusville during the "heated term."

—Buggy-riding is the principal amusement of our young people.

—Grapes and pears and peaches are now the dessert of our hotel tables.

—The fall trade will soon begin, and our merchants will put forth their customary announcements.

—The city park was named the Cadwallader Park by the City Council yesterday, in honor of the donor of the land for the purposes of a park.

—A large trade accrues to our stores from the surrounding country because we can offer the best goods at the best prices, on account of sharp home competition.

City Improvements.

A resolution passed the Council yesterday instructing the proper Committee to inquire and report as to a feasible site for a public market and its probable cost. A respectable number of citizens had petitioned the Council to establish a public market, and the measure has many arguments for its adoption. It is well to have the whole matter under consideration in all its bearings, nor can the investigation do any harm. But until our sewers are constructed and water works established, we can forego markets. In fact, we will find that taxpayers do not wish any additional burdens imposed the present year. The credit of the city will suffer whenever there is manifest a disposition to undertake too many improvements at once. The public health and comfort demands water works and sewers with all reasonable celerity; but we can let our market-house wait for another year or two. Our city is growing rapidly, and when the new railroads radiate from this point, we may then establish a public market. The paving of Spring and Diamond streets the present season is demanded by the business houses and property holders abutting thereon. The finances of the city have been so far well administered. It is hard to resist all the urgent and plausible demands made upon the Council by the several departments, but the exercise of firmness is necessary, and we believe the Finance Committee will be sustained when their position is fully understood, and the force of their recommendations, as to retrenchment, is properly appreciated.

The Producers' League.

The special telegraphic report of the producer's meeting at Parker's Landing yesterday will be found in another column and will be read with deep interest. While the great body of producers have signed or manifested a desire to sign the pledge or agreement to stop drilling, there are a few who yet hold back. The prevailing impression, however, appears to be that if the proper opportunity is offered and the proper influence brought to bear, every individual owning or controlling a foot of oil producing territory within the Region will not merely sign the pledge, but strictly and rigidly adhere to his agreement. The producers as a class are men of high integrity, and they have the utmost faith in each other, and that they will live up to the spirit and the letter of their agreements, particularly one of such vital importance.

Important Pipe Line Sale.

Special to the Herald.

PARKER'S LANDING, August 28.

The Empire Pipe Line, of this place, owned by Parker, Thompson & Karns, has been sold to the Empire Transportation Company. It will be transferred on Monday, and will be managed in future by Mr. C. P. Hatch, Superintendent of the Mutual Pipe Line, Foxburg. B.

Murder at Garland.

A Swede was found murdered in a barn at Garland yesterday morning. He had been drinking the night previous, and it is believed that he was murdered for his money. We have received no details of the tragedy.

RAILROAD MATTERS.—The Pennsylvania and Erie Railroad Company have commenced putting down steel rails at the different stations along the road where the most friction takes place, and will extend as the old iron rails are worn out.

Youngsville puts on a lively look at present. About one hundred and fifty men are working within the borough limits, on the Warren and Venango Railroad, adding much business life to the town.

Four miles of track are laid on the Pennsylvania Petroleum Railroad out of Cambridge, toward Titusville. The section of this road from Pithole to Pleasantville is constructed and ready for the rail. There are a thousand tons of iron rail for the P. P. Road at Cambridge.

The Allegheny Valley Road by the purchase of the Oil Creek & A. R. Road, now reach fifty miles further eastward than it did before. They have a much easier grade to Irvineton than to Corry.

The Warren & Venango Road has been pestered long enough by the "dog in the manger" policy of the Titusville & Petroleum road. The Warren & Venango road would probably have been through our city long before this but for these peddling injunctions.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH THE SUN?—Professor Tacchini has discovered, by means of the spectrum, that something is wrong with the sun. It has been emitting immense volumes of magnesium under a high and rapid state of combustion, and as this is one of the most fiercely-burning substances in nature, we have, according to the Professor, been experiencing the effects of it in the late intensely hot weather all over the world. It must be highly gratifying for everybody to know that this fire is raging in our great luminary, and that should an explosion take place, and our sun be blotted from the planetary system as many other suns have been before, we shall instantly be frozen to death. Delightful thought, especially in hot weather. Meanwhile, the tail of that comet has failed to put in an appearance.

CORRECTION.—In the HERALD's special dispatch from Parker's Landing, yesterday, on the Producers meeting, the last sentence should have read: "From Petersburg the reports are encouraging, etc." As printed it conveyed the impression that the operators who will not sign the pledge are all from Pittsburgh, which is not the case.

IN LUCK.—A. W. Barry, Esq., of this city, is the lucky owner of the entire working interest in a new fifty barrel well, struck on Tuesday on the Triumph tract.

Mr. N. R. Bates has a stroke of good fortune in a new ten barrel well, green oil, on new territory north of Pleasantville.

A MAN confined in the lock-up for assault and battery and being drunk and disorderly made his escape through the door while another prisoner was being taken in. The escaped prisoner was arrested by officer Doherty, and was to have had a jury trial this morning.

THE Sisters of Mercy Fair, at the Opera House, will continue three nights longer, closing on Saturday evening. The prizes will be distributed on that evening.

PARKER'S LANDING.

Meeting of Producers—Harmony of Action — Reports of Committees—Further Developments to Cease for Six Months — Associations to be Formed in Every District—Committees Appointed, &c., &c.

Special Dispatch to the Herald.

PARKER'S LANDING, Aug. 28.

There was a good attendance at the meeting to-day at Spencer Opera House. In the temporary absence of Mr. C. D. Angell, the meeting was called to order by S. D. Karns, Esq. Reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with.

The first business in order was the presentation of reports, and they were handed in from the following districts by the proper committees, and the names read by the Secretary.

Titusville—Two hundred and forty signers.

Petroleum Centre—Fifty signers.

The following named persons at this place refused to sign: M. C. Egbert, Louis Egbert, Adam Weyman, James Anderson, James H. Patterson, John Waddell, J. C. Cross, J. A. Bell.

At this point Mr. C. D. Angell came in and took the chair.

Petrolia City and vicinity—Twenty-nine signers.

Argyle—Fifteen signers.

Oil City—Fifty-eight signers.

Franklin—Thirteen signers.

Parker's Landing—Nineteen signers. The following named declined to sign: A. Reap, A. Jack and McClymonds.

Mr. Angell said: I have received the following dispatch from the chairman of a mass meeting at Tidioute:

"Prompt and decisive action has been taken at a meeting of producers here to-day. We fully concur in your designs of the 22d inst., and will stand or fall with you.

"HENRY THOMPSON,
"President of the Meeting."

ANTWERP.

M Hulings, Joseph Gates,
C F Johnson, A A Hulings,
William Robinson.

Mr. Angell stated that no reports had been received from Petersburg, Pleasantville, Petrolia and one or two other points.

Mr. A. N. Perrin offered the following resolution, which was passed:

Resolved, That the delegates assembled at Parker's, representing the producers from nearly all important districts, earnestly request that the Petersburg operators immediately organize and join in the movement to reduce the production of oil and thereby advance the price.

Mr. Braden, of Franklin, thought that it would be best in order to secure the co-operation of the St. Petersburg district, to hold a meeting there on Saturday. He was confident that when the matter was laid before them they would come into the movement heartily. He moved and it was resolved that when the meeting adjourn it adjourn to meet at St. Petersburg on Friday at 1 p. m.

Mr. Erwin said he didn't think there was any organization in Rousville, but they were all willing to stop drilling.

Major Braden said that in the Franklin district they produced chiefly heavy oil, and they would not interfere with the ordinary markets.

Mr. R. B. Allen said that he understood that the reason the Franklin people would not come in, was that Messrs. Karns, Angell, Allen, McKinney, Nesbit, and others, were letting contracts for a large number of wells, to be started after the first prox.

Mr. Karns said that he had two wells going down, which he should have started anyway. He owned nine hundred acres, and on that there would not be a lease let or a well started before or after the first of September. [Applause.]

Mr. Angell said: I would say, as I said to the people of Titusville last night, when I came here and learned that such a report was in circulation, that from four to six weeks before this subject was agitated I let contracts for five wells. The contracts for rigs were let more than four weeks ago, and the contracts for putting down the wells made. I have let no contracts since, nor do I propose to. I have gone into this thing in good faith, and in this, as well as all other things in life, propose to act in good faith. [Applause.]

Mr. Nesbitt said for McKinney & Nesbitt that they would pledge themselves to start no wells after the first day of September. They had let one, and that was the only one they intended to start.

Mr. Rich said he thought these reports were put in circulation by speculators, who were engaged in buying oil, and raised this hue and cry till they could get loaded up with oil.

Col. Brady, representing Phillips Bros., said he thought it was not their intention to start any more wells. [Applause.]

R. B. Allen said that on a tract of thirty acres, owned by Jack, Moorhead and himself, they were going to start three wells, but should only start one. [Applause.]

O. D. Harrington said that they should see who broke faith with the producers.

Mr. R. B. Allen offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That each of us who have signed the pledge will point out to the contractors, drillers, tool-dressers and all other working men of the oil country, the advantages to them as well as ourselves of carrying out to the letter the meaning of our pledge, and request them to join with us.

Mr. Angell said he thought the prominent operators were not acting in bad faith, as had been charged.

Mr. S. Adams said he had three started, and contracts let for four, which he had stopped. [Applause.]

F. L. Irwin said he had not met with a landowner who was not willing to suspend his leases for six months.

O. D. Harrington said it was proposed by some to stop pumping, and Jonathan Watson had said that he was willing to do it. [Applause.]

Mr. Rich said that there should be associations formed in every district and make a record of all wells drilling or pumping. He favored the formation of associations.

Mr. Angell said he thought it was all-important that an organization be effected, so that the actual state of affairs, such as stock, well, etc., at the close of each month, be accurately reported, and this he thought could be very easily accomplished with the organization as at present constituted. He thought that an adjournment had better be had to next week, Tuesday, at Parker's, and in the meantime find out what had been done, and show to the people of Petersburg whether they were acting in good faith.

John M. Hulings said he didn't think there was any jealousy manifested by the Petersburg operators.

A frightful discussion then arose as to what constituted starting a well, and motions were made to amend the pledge, and state specifically what was understood to be the starting of a well. They were all voted down.

On motion of R. B. Allen, it was

Resolved, That this meeting will deem it dishonorable for any one, whether an oil producer or otherwise, to directly or indirectly start, or cause to be started, any new rigs or oil wells during the six months, from September 1, 1872, to March 1, 1873; and any one found guilty of doing so shall be considered unworthy of credit, support or aid, in any way whatever of each and every signer of this pledge.

Resolved, That we invite hardware dealers, and engine and boiler manufacturers, and other oil well outfitters, to join with us and refuse to sell machinery or outfits for any well started between September 1, 1872, and March 1, 1873.

Another discussion here arose as to what should be deemed starting a well, but it was finally unanimously, amid great applause, voted that the pledge was explicit enough.

It was moved that owners of pumping wells be requested to employ two sets of men, so that drillers and others thrown out of employment by the cessation of drilling could get employment during the winter. This gave rise to some discussion, and it was eventually decided that the meeting could not dictate such a course to the producers.

The committee who canvassed Bradensburg then reported the following signers to the pledge: James Milford, J. P. Millford, R. F. Millford, A. G. Pryc, Wm. Hoffman, V. P. Beardsly, S. P. Yockey, H. T. Bullock, Vanbere Bond, Charles W. Green, J. K. Clark, Frank W. Courtney, Alfred Aggus, G. K. Dorrance, F. A. Smith, O. W. Beattie, G. H. Beattie, James Pierce, R. S. Thompson.

The following were reported from Antwerp: M. Hullings, Joseph Gates, C. E. Johnson, A. A. Hullings, Wm. Robinson.

Mr. Karns offered the following resolution, which was carried:

Resolved, That there is an entire unanimity of feeling in regard to not starting any more wells, and we call on all producers in Pennsylvania to join with us in good faith in stopping development.

Mr. Herbst moved that a committee of five be appointed on permanent organization on the Parker district. The chair appointed the following gentlemen as such committee: J. C. Herbst, A. L. Campbell, A. N. Perrin, Wm. Parker, R. B. Allen.

The committee are requested to meet at Parker & Thompson's office, at Parker's Landing, on Monday evening next.

On motion, it was resolved that the committees already appointed for the several districts continue their work until the next meeting. It was resolved that Capt. Wm. Timblin and John M. Thompson be added to the committee, to procure signers to the pledge in Butler county.

After the transaction of some unimportant business, the meeting adjourned to meet at St. Petersburg, on Friday next, at one p. m. B.

FRANKLIN FESTIVITIES.

Grand Opening of the Oil Men's League Building and City Hall—Parade of the Military—A Fair, a Festival and a Dance—Description of the Building—Sketches of the Military Organizations.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

EXCHANGE HOTEL,
FRANKLIN, August 28, 1872.

I have already given the readers of the MORNING HERALD knowledge of the fact that last night was a festival night in this beautiful city. It is my purpose now to describe in detail the festivities themselves and let the reader know how this town, almost old enough to be called ancient, was alive with merriment last evening, and how the participants in the enjoyment of the occasion fully illustrated the old couplet, which runs—

Care in our coffins drives the nails no doubt,
But mirth, with merry fingers, plucks them out.

For many days the occasion had been looked forward to with most glowing anticipations, and the gentlemen and ladies engaged in making preparations for the event vied with each other in their efforts to crown the affair with complete success. The opening of a new public edifice even in a metropolis like New York is something of more than ordinary interest, and always demands the attention of the masses, for whose benefit the structure is erected. It was, therefore, no marvel that here in this substantial old city the dedication of the Oil Men's League Building and City Hall should cause a social stir, full of inspiration and local pride. Not that Franklin is wanting in fine buildings; for here are to be seen some of the most imposing edifices to be found anywhere. The court-house and the churches are structures that never fail to arrest the attention of strangers, while the soldiers' monument which beautifies the park on the southerly side of the former is an eloquent tribute to the memory of those who sleep beneath its marble base.

THE NEW BUILDING.

Some time ago the members of the Oil Men's League conceived the plan of building a wigwam at a cost of about $4,000, but while they were thinking over the matter Mr. R. G. Lamberton offered to erect for them a substantial building for $8,000. The proposition was accepted and the result is the new hall on the corner of Thirteenth and Buffalo streets, which was first opened to the public last evening. The building is of wood, and is 110 feet in length and 60 feet in width. The main hall has, including the gallery, comfortable seating capacity for six hundred persons. It is perfect so far as ventilation and light are concerned, as, indeed, it is in every other necessary particular. A handsome stage, with two reception rooms and two large dressing rooms (up-stairs), occupies a position at the extreme end of the hall. It has a well-designed and handsomely-executed drop curtain (21 feet by 18), representing a summer scene on the Rhine. The stage has also a fair stock of scenery and other theatrical furniture. There is a spacious hallway running lengthwise with the main hall, and adjoining are seven rooms which are to be occupied as armories and meeting rooms of military companies and the Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company. The building, which is complete in all of its apartments, was designed by and erected under direction of Mr. Lamberton, who is entitled to great praise for the success which has rewarded his architectural efforts. The principal officers of the Oil Men's League are Mayor Charles W. Mackey, superintendent; J. K. Barbour, assistant superintendent; H. Simonds, secretary, and Sheriff C. S. Marks, treasurer. The building is an ornament to the city, and will be occupied for political purposes to-night, when it will take its oratorical baptism in good and eloquent Grant speeches by Judge Shannon and Mr. Bigham, both of whom are well known to be forcible and able speakers. It is intended to rent the hall proper—which is designated the City Hall—for meetings, amusements and festivals, and thereby meet the expense incurred in erecting the building.

PREPARING FOR THE FESTIVAL.

A number of meetings of public-spirited citizens were held for the purpose of making arrangements for the festive opening night. It was finally resolved that a Fair, Festival and Supper jollification be the order of the occasion, and in order to have matters systematically conducted, the following committees were appointed:

Finance—C. W. Mackey, W. C. Howe, Geo. R. Snowden and W. S. Carroll.

Printing—J. B. Myers, R. G. Lamberton and John Hardcastle.

Music—John Hope, S. W. Sutton, J. G. Alexander, Will. Bryden and W. H. Webber.

Preparing Building—W. N. Emery, J. R. Grant, M. G. Taylor, G. Reiff, James Pettit, W. H. Perkins, J. G. Ellis, J. W. Rowland, I. Albert, A. J. Bruiker.

Refreshments—F. B. Riddle, Geo. Piaget, C. S. Marks, H. M. Rieser, Owen Lyons, Jas. D. Myers, George H. Blinchey, W. J. Dewoody, M. Perrine, T. P. Manning, W. A. Horton, N. P. Bryden.

Floor Managers—George Piaget, A. D. Brown, J. G. Alexander, Henry Wilson and Will. Bryden.

It was also arranged that a military parade should preface the festivities.

THE MILITARY DISPLAY

came off in the afternoon, and was witnessed by throngs of admiring spectators. The cavalry and infantry made a deep impression, and reflected credit on themselves for their soldierly bearing and fine appearance. The column was composed of the Franklin Light Horse, Franklin Guards and the Mitchell Zouaves, and was headed by the Franklin Cornet Band. The route of the procession was as follows: From the cavalry armory on Thirteenth street, near Liberty; down Liberty to Ninth; Ninth to Buffalo; Buffalo to Twelfth; Twelfth to Meadow; Meadow to Fifteenth; Fifteenth to Elk; Elk to Thirteenth, and thence to the armories in the new building, where the column was dispersed.

The Franklin Light Horse numbers fifty members, who are among the most prominent business men, lawyers and citizens of the town. The company was organized on June 27, 1871. The uniform consists of light pantaloons, dark vests, blue coats, and regulation cavalry hat. The company has full equipments, which were purchased at a cost of $1,000. Its officers are as follows: captain, W. C. Howe; first lieutenant, A. R. Grant; second lieutenant, C. S. Marks.

The Franklin Guards, infantry, has forty members, all picked men. Its uniform is of the regulation pattern. The officers are: captain, George R. Snowden; first lieutenant, W. S. Carroll; second lieutenant, Jas. G. Alexander. This company is destined to be a "crack" feature in the National Guard. Capt. Snowden is doing all that in him lies to make his command proficient in every respect.

The Mitchell Zouaves were, to use a trite phrase, "the observed of all observers." Their appearance did not fail to elicit compliments from every person who witnessed the display. They were dressed in red pants (bagged), blue jackets, red caps and white leggins. The officers of the Zouaves are: Captain, Mayor Charles W. Mackey; First Lieutenant, George H. Piaget; Second Lieutenant, George W. Hutton. The company numbers fifty-five men.

The musical attraction of the parade was the Franklin Cornet Band, Perry Black, leader. This band is composed of fifteen pieces. The uniform is the same as that worn by the Zouaves. Recently the citizens of Franklin presented the band with a new set of instruments, which cost $750.

In this connection I ought to state that the Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company, which is to occupy apartments in the new building, has thirty-eight members. It has also a new truck, which was purchased at a cost of $1,200.

THE FESTIVAL.

The festivities in the evening, at the opening, were of the most enjoyable character. The hall was most brilliantly illuminated, and the array of Franklin's beauty was something good to see. There were tables which groaned with tempting eatables and drinkables, which were dispensed by fair hands that were all attention and all business. The various committees of ladies were presided over by Mrs. Polly Brigham, who was selected for the position owing to her experience in such matters and her universally admitted executive ability. The following is a list of the committees:

Tea and Coffee—Mrs. J. H. Martin, Mrs. S. A. Thomas, Mrs. Hannah Dewoody, Mrs. Richard Irwin, Mrs. Harry Pike, Mrs. Lizzie Ridgway.

Soda Fountain—Mrs. Dr. S. G. Snowden, Mrs. Adelia Sweet, and Misses Leah, Dale and Lizzie Raymond.

Ice Cream—Mrs. Lizzie Connely, Mrs. Moses Brown, Mrs. Henry Kalb, and Misses Martha Dewoody and J. Bowen.

Boquets—Misses Flora Smith, Anna Gray, Emma Piaget, Lizzie Rodgers, Fanny Bunce, Emma Funk, Sarah Weil, Lizzie Robinson, and Jennie Spare, and Mrs. W. H. Rider.

Table No. 1—Mrs. Samuel Plumer, Mrs. Lizzie Duff, Mrs. W. H. Perkins, and Misses Jennie Galbraith and Nettie Cochran.

Table No. 2—Mrs. Harvey Crawford, Mrs. W. LaWham, and Misses Emma Deland, Ida Gordon and Julia Lindsay.

Table No. 4—Mrs. Col. Wm. Richards, and Misses Kate Kinnear, Kate Currin and Louisa Reese.

Table No. 5—Mrs. H. M. Reesir, Mrs. Casper Frank, Mrs. Mary Watson, Mrs. Sarah Weil and Miss Lizzie Robinson.

Table No. 7—Mrs. S. J. Reid, Mrs. Wm. Crawford, Mrs. A. M. Hoover and Misses Libbie Evans and Mary Funk.

Table No. 8—Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. M. S. Myers, Mrs. D. Zengsmidth, Mrs. J. M. Dewoody, and Miss J. Bowen.

The attendance was very large, and the ladies who had the management of the festival acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner. A large number of pictures were sold on the "dollar store" plan. There were also some valuable prizes, among them a handsome gold watch which cost $100. This was secured by Mrs. Polly Brigham, it being voted to her as "the most popular married lady in the city." The votes were one dollar and fifty cents each and amounted to $187.50. A silver tea-set was bought in by Mr. T. W. Waller for $90. Mr. Daniel Graham bid in for $61 an eight-day time regulator. The art gallery was conducted by Messrs. M. D. Riddle and H. M. Wilson. The proceeds realized amounted to over $1,000, which will be used for the benefit of the military companies and hook and ladder company which make their headquarters in the new building. About twelve o'clock the hall was cleared of the tables and chairs, and the company entered upon the enjoyment of terpsichorean exercises, which were kept up until four o'clock this morning when the company separated, all fully pleased with the pleasures of the delightful occasion.

THANKS.

I cannot close without returning my thanks to the Hon. C. W. Gilfillan, Mayor Mackey, Capt. Howe and Mr. John L. Mitchell, for courtesies received at their hands, as well as for information furnished me by them. Also it is my pleasure to make the same acknowledgement to Mr. Foster W. Mitchell, of the Exchange Hotel, and to his gentlemanly clerk, Mr. Charles M. Cook. The Exchange is, in every respect, one of the best establishments of its kind to be found anywhere. The gentlemen in charge certainly "know how to keep a hotel," and that can't be said of every man who undertakes to run such an institution. PONINGOR.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention at Pittsburgh on the 17th Proximo.

TITUSVILLE, August 28.

Editor Herald:

The convention to be held at Pittsburgh on the 17th of September bids fair to be the largest gathering of the "Boys in Blue" since the war. Every State, from Maine to California, will be represented. There seems to be a general response to the call, and the soldiery of the country are alive to the interests at stake. They are holding meetings and passing resolutions endorsing Grant and Wilson all over the country. They recognize in the coalition of the screwheads with the rebel Democracy the same opposition they encountered for the four years of the war; they see in the background, across the "bloody chasm," the serpent of treason, coiled ready to strike whenever the proper time arrives; they see the phalanx of rebellion closing in solid column; they know, also, what the result will be if they are again given the reins of government—all the blood that has been shed, all the homes that have been made desolate, all the treasure that has been expended, would be but in vain. The same patriotic fire that glowed in their breast when Treason's guns thundered against the walls of Sumter, now burns within them, and the blood of their fallen comrades, that moistened the earth where they fell, calls aloud not to let them have died in vain. The loyal hearts are ready and anxious to rally around the standard of justice, freedom and right—the flag that has preserved us as a nation, that has never born disgrace. They are ready to follow that chieftan who lead them to victory over many a gory field of battle and brought peace out of chaos; that broke the shackles from the limbs of four millions of bondsmen; that humbled the haughty spirit of the leaders of the rebellion, and who has made us a happy and prosperous nation. A large number of soldiers in this vicinity would gladly lend their presence to the Convention at Pittsburgh, if they could, without incurring too heavy an expense. The major portion of the veterans in this vicinity are laboring men, and cannot afford to go to any great expense, but if arrangements could be made with the railroad companies to be taken at reduced rates, I have no doubt a very large delegation might be organized here. The oil region is never backward in any enterprise—never does things by halves—and it is to be hoped that on this occasion she will occupy no small space in the line of march. Would it not be well for a meeting to be called and such action taken as would secure the necessary arrangements. VETERAN.
